In a two-year study of almost 100 murders by racist extremists, the Intelligence Report identified 10 unique characteristics of killers who were active online:

n m n All offenders were unemployed at the time of the killings.

m By protesting, leafleting, or attending racist skinhead concerts or gatherings, all offenders publicly participated in racist activity or outreach (though most remained anonymous prior to the killings.)

m m n Triggering events are personal. More than half of offenders began killing in or around their homes, with family members often the first victims.
